WORDS FROM OUR PRESIDENT

Another great meeting with similar numbers on our second week back so let's hope SA stays COVID-19 free and keep those borders closed.

Guest speaker, Ali Greco from Surewise, gave us lots to think about with the increase in cyber crime. It certainly is very concerning on how much information both business and personal is being hacked. The number of different questions raised was an indication that you can't be too complacent; a good start is to permanently delete unknown emails.

Surewise is a general insurance company and Heather Blanco is now the CEO

Mario thanking Ali Greco for her very informative Cyber Crime presentation/

ROTARY BOOKMART

SMITH RESERVE - WOODVILLE WEST

Next week the Girl Guides will be returning and will be there on Tuesday and Wednesday nights. They are following strict guidelines for cleanliness due to Covid19.

This means that-

The book shelves on wheels need to be wheeled in between the stationary shelves on Tuesday nights. On Thursday mornings the shelves need to be wheeled back into position for the remainder of the week.

Please use the sanitizer after each cash sale and ask customers to use the sanitizer when entering Bookmart.

The West Lakes Bookmart opens again next Monday, 20th July.

I had a meeting with the WLL volunteers on Wednesday and they are keen to start again. The council will review our situation again at the end of the year. (The building for the new WLL Hub begins in 2 months' time.)

The public have been asked to take all book donations to Smith Reserve, Woodville West. This means that the WLL volunteers will be collecting books from us to stock up their shelves at WLL.

Thank you everyone for your support.

Jenny Harris

The WLL Bookmart volunteers met for the first time in five months last Wednesday in the Smith Reserve all to discuss and accept the new Council COVID19 restrictions on the operation of the WLL Bookmart. Most of our volunteers will work their old shifts starting Monday.
We had morning tea, coffee and freshly baked cakes provided by Jenny Harris. Thank you Jenny!!!

SOME SMALL RCKP HELP FOR DONATIONS-IN-KIND (DIK)

“DIK is a major Rotary project that covers all South Australia.
Surplus goods are donated to the project from businesses, organisations and individuals and distributed to needy communities locally, nationally and internationally. These goods include medical, dental and hospital equipment, computers, books, toys and school items.
As an RCKP example, DIY was instrumental in RCKP being able to set up our Bookmart at Woodville West. We were able to gather book shelving and furniture from DIK which enabled us to install and commence Bookmart operations last November. That shelving would elsewhere have cost around $20000 to $30000 and without that shelving we would be unlikely to have started our operations even by now, and certainly not at the minimal cost that has been achieved.

Last week, RCKP had a request from DIK to collect surplus school uniforms from South Pacific SA at Underdale. 50 boxes of mostly new school uniforms) were towed to the DIK warehousing at Edinburgh. Wayne Comley (with trailer), Rob Hughes and Warren Hobbs were able to transport the "as new" uniforms to DIK with the help on site of Kilburn Lions volunteers at SPSA. Graham from Lions referred to photos from recipient schools in South East Asia where even the School Principal was resplendent in his red SA school blazer. We were pleased to be able to assist.

It was also a great opportunity for us each to get an escorted tour of DIK by Chair of DIK, David Cockshell. It was Rob Hughes first look there. Rob is also involved with D9510 project of Safe Water & Sanitation Saves Lives (SWSSL) given his considerable past SA Water experience. Rob's involvement with SWSSL sprang from DIK links.

KPR also had past DIK experience several years ago of sending a container of badly needed goods to the Philippines after a tsunami.
The goods were provided by DIK, selected by RCKP and RCKP paid for the freight of the container. That is a good example of how the DIK process works.
KPR also had 10 or so members visit on a recent clean up working bee day at DIK.
A DIK visit is quite an experience. Chair of DIK David Cockshell, would be a great guest speaker for RCKP. He has many stories to tell of huge stock (dozens of containers) eg from old RAH, Calvary etc....and the huge humanitarian difference those goods make to the recipient communities. DIK is a very impressive SA Rotary project that utilises surplus goods to make a huge difference for the beneficiaries."

RCKP MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE REPORT FOR 19/20

This year has seen a changed approach to membership. Our President, Kevin Tiggemann, has addressed the necessary succession of RCKP by introducing the Business Networking Evenings (BNE) so that we overlap and welcome those people who are actively involved in business whether that is in management, own businesses or employed in various companies and industries. The concept is to have one event per month, usually the third Tuesday Dinner Meeting. We as a Rotary Club extend email invitations for our diverse business connections to attend. The guest speaker is carefully chosen to be of interest to the cohort of business networking people and tailored email invitations are sent to relevant connections. The evenings have been notable successful from various dimensions such as networking, visitor numbers, interest, enjoyment, and a chance to promote our highly successful community projects. From this RCKP experience, several people have chosen to join KPR as members, thereby progressing the likely succession of RCKP into the future. These evenings are held at our usual Tuesday night venue, with a similar format but a Networking focus which fosters an organic path to KPR membership for interested visitors. It is of some relevance that some from that group of people have found their RCKP niche and are now making a significant impact as members.

Our new members from 19/20 (in date order) are Rob Hughes, Kevin Roberts, Bob Gloyn, Rob Stocker (transfer), Julie Bowels, Phil Ransome, and Cheryl Tompkins. This great group of people have been assisted by RCKP mentors who have helped to welcome them help them to settle into our club.

We are also proud and pleased that there are around 20 community volunteers who specifically assist with our Bookmart on a regular basis. Although this group are not seeking KPR Membership, they are part of us…..their passion is Bookmart and they collectively make a critical contribution to its success.

We have had 3 resignations from KPR membership - Helen Calnan, Allen Pinto, and more recently Megan Kerr. We thank them all for their contribution over their years of RCKP Membership.

In March 2020, the COVID-19 crisis also had an impact on RCKP and RCKP meetings and projects. President Kevin ensured the smooth running of the Club and relationships within by transferring to weekly Zoom meetings which included the monthly Business Networking Evenings. The transition was as seamless as possible under the extreme circumstances.

During the year we held several New Member Information Evenings which were designed as welcoming fireside social occasions. Shirley and Kevin Roberts opened their home which was greatly appreciated, and the events were well attended by new members and their partners. The fireside chats provided a great opportunity for new and established members to exchange information in an informal setting, and they were a lot of fun as well.

My thanks to our Membership Committee - Mario McDonagh as Vice Chair and Paul Denley, Alison Harris, David Simpson, Kevin Roberts, Bob Gloyn, Phil Ransome and Cheryl Tompkins. Thanks also to the numerous other KPR Members who assisted with Membership mentoring and welcoming roles. Our President, Kevin Tiggemann, has had a key planning and creative role in the structuring and implementing of membership in this past year and that includes addressing the COVID-19 impact and response.

Warren Hobbs
