Hi BBQ Team Volunteers

Thanks to you all for your efforts with the Bunnings BBQ today (Sunday 24th Nov).
We did have an illness in the lead up which we were able to simply handle with Kevin Tiggemann previously volunteering as a Reserve.
It is clear with our numbers required for this monthly event that the Reserve role is key to be filled(2 positions).
Kevin also chose to strongly promote our Bookmart to every customer during his BBQ shift....Do you enjoy reading?, Our Bookmart is currently holding a Sale,
Would you like a Bookmark which has the location and open hours FYI? I reckon Tiggy would have passed out 40 Bookmarks during his shift.
I reckon it is likely several of those customers will find their way to Bookmart over the next month....and perhaps ultimately may be repeat Bookmart customers/helpers/ members

It was good weather and Bunnings customer levels are increasing in Spring especially this ideal weather..... 27C

Total Sales	$1867(Card $1077 and cash $790 after deducting $100 Float)
Expenses	450
Net Profit	$1417

Per volunteer hour is still around $40

In Rob Chambers absence in Vietnam, our John Jackson took over those reins of Drinks, Ice, equipment, cash handling and there at drop off and clean up and wash up.
Rob C has now set up shelving in the Bookmart Shed with detail of that role. This is to the rear of the shed on the west side of the BBQ trailer.
And special thanks to each of you in making this BBQ successful....you are all major contributors to the $1400 net profit raised for our KPR projects.
Recent rule changes by Bunnings to keep us all safe are challenging but the system works (as it does for the numerous local Clubs and Service groups that utilise it.) And there is no choice about following their system....if we want to do BBQ's then that is how we must do it.

If we can ongoing have one weekend day per month, KPR will be doing well.
Our next allocated day is a Public Holiday ....Thurs 26th Dec which is Boxing Day. The Bunnings carpark should be ongoing full on this occasion.
We have the nucleus of a BBQ team for the day, but still several spots to be filled.
Round Robin will go around in 2 weeks and we will need your support on this post Xmas occasion.

Cheers and thanks, Warren

New tools for project planning available

At Rotary, we are increasing our emphasis on working with communities as partners in service projects to address issues they prioritize. We are also incorporating more ways to measure our projects' outcomes to understand their impact. Members can make lasting and positive changes through Rotary service by developing evidence-based projects with measurable and sustainable results.

Understanding a community's priorities through an assessment is the first step toward making a long-term impact. The recently updated Conducting Community Assessments handbook guides how to involve community members in identifying priorities and designing a project. The handbook also includes new relevant topics such as data privacy and diversity, equity, and inclusion. The results of the assessment will inform the project's goal and plan.

The Rotary Impact Handbook helps members plan and carry out measurement activities as part of their service projects so they can demonstrate the results. The handbook explains the building blocks of the impact framework, which is used to develop and illustrate a project's inputs, outputs, outcomes, and impact. Incorporating it into your strategy will help a project reach its goals. When planning the individual activities that go into a project, incorporate measurement at every stage so you can determine whether you need to modify your initial plan. This also allows comparisons with the baseline data from the assessment, which illustrates what the project achieved.

All members are encouraged to use these tools when planning service projects so that together, we can increase our positive impact in communities around the world.
