Guest Speaker - Mathew Cowdrey - 18th February 2025

“On his accidental journey to the Paralympics”

Mathew Cowdrey is an Australian Paralympic swimmer celebrated for his remarkable achievements in the pool and his inspirational journey. Born on December 22, 1988, in Adelaide, South Australia, Cowdrey was born with a congenital amputation to his left arm, which ends just below the elbow. Despite this challenge, he demonstrated an early aptitude for swimming, embracing the sport from a young age.

Growing up, Cowdrey developed a strong passion for swimming, which was cultivated through dedication and the support of his family. He joined the local Norwood Swimming Club, where he began to hone his skills in the water. His determination and natural talent quickly became apparent as he advanced in swimming competitions. It wasn't long before he caught the attention of the Australian Paralympic coaching staff, setting him on a path to international competition.

Cowdrey made his Paralympic debut at the 2004 Athens Paralympic Games when he was just 15 years old. During these games, he not only demonstrated his prowess but also set the stage for an extraordinary career ahead. He won three gold medals, two silver medals, and a bronze medal, establishing himself as a formidable force in Paralympic swimming.

The years that followed saw Cowdrey continue to excel in the sport. At the 2008 Beijing Paralympic Games, Mathew Cowdrey's performance was nothing short of spectacular. He won five gold medals, along with three silvers, showcasing his versatility across different swimming events and stroke styles. His achievements in Beijing solidified his status as a Paralympic superstar.

Cowdrey's success continued at the London 2012 Paralympic Games, where he further added to his medal tally by winning another five gold medals, two silver medals, and one bronze. This brought his total to an astonishing 23 Paralympic medals, 13 of which were gold. With this tally, he became Australia's most successful Paralympic athlete, surpassing other legends in the sport.

Aside from his Paralympic success, Cowdrey also competed in World Championships and Commonwealth Games, achieving remarkable results. His consistency and discipline in training were key to his sustained success. Known for his butterfly and freestyle events, Cowdrey's rigorous regimen and unwavering commitment have made him a role model for athletes around the globe.

Off the pool deck, Cowdrey chose to balance his athletic pursuits with academic achievements, earning a degree in Law and Media from the University of Adelaide. This balance between academics and sports exemplifies his multifaceted abilities and determination to excel beyond the sporting realm.

Mathew Cowdrey retired from competitive swimming in 2015, transitioning to a career in politics. His contributions to his country and community continue to manifest in this new role, as he serves as a Member of the South Australian House of Assembly, representing the Liberal Party in the seat of Colton since 2018.

Reflecting on his journey, Mathew Cowdrey serves as an inspiration, highlighting how determination, resilience, and hard work can overcome physical challenges to achieve greatness in both sports and life. His story is a testament to the power of the human spirit and serves as an enduring legacy for aspiring athletes around the world.

Bookmart

To Kidman Parkers

Just thought I would let you know the outcome of some good planning from the Pink and Blue Event and our Bookmart tent on the day.
David Taylor came up with a great idea to promote Bookmart to our Pink and Blue visitors when at our KPR display tent.
Visitors to our tent were entered into our Bookmart competition for no cost, if they provided their name and phone number, hence they were then in the competition to receive a free voucher for $50 of their choice of Bookmart books.

Well this was won by Tricia Willams who was excited about her first visit to Bookmart.
So excited that she brought her two sisters along today Thurs 20th Feb.
One of those sisters is the Mother of Pink and Blue Coordinator Paul Raffanelli.
Between them all as first up Bookmart visitors, they bought $126 worth of books including the voucher..
The sisters were just as excited about their book purchases and they all referred to being upcoming regular Bookmart customers.
What value is 3 new regular lifetime Bookmart customers? Plus all others that entered the competition we can communicate with about future Bookmart offers which may also turn them into regular customers.

Well done to Jenny Harris and David Taylor for coming up with the strategy and then putting it in place.

Bunnings BBQ

Hi BBQ Team Volunteers

Thanks to you all for your efforts with the Bunnings BBQ today (Sat 15th Feb).
A few things were necessarily different from our past BBQ's. This one relied heavily on David Taylor and Steve Redden for ordering and collection plus they both worked on Shift # 3. Hobbs was hip op affected so was largely irrelevant to the cause.
David Taylor has had an immediate impact ....we buy stock of a level to sell out by the end of the day. So no frozen sausages going forward....which worked well.

It was cool weather at 25C, and Bunnings customer levels were reasonable....unknown the impact of LIV Golf..
All of our Volunteers get the BBQ job done and with a smile and enthusiasm, and they always seem to enjoy the role.
We had a few of our regular volunteers unavailable due LIV, so it was pleasing to spread the load and still come up with a solid result.

Total Sales	$1699(Card $1159 and cash $540 after deducting Float)
Expenses	487
Net Profit	$1212

Net Profit per volunteer hour is still around $35

Special thanks to each of you in making this BBQ successful....you are all major contributors to the $1200 net profit raised for our KPR projects.

Our next allocated day is EASTER Saturday 19th April. Please put the date in your calendar.

Cheers and thanks
Warren

Polio Plus - 2 articles on a dedicated man

The PolioPlus campaign was initiated by Rotary International, and the effort is credited largely to Dr. Carlos Canseco, who was the President of Rotary International from 1984 to 1985. Under his leadership, Rotary launched the PolioPlus program, which aimed to immunise all the world's children against polio. This groundbreaking initiative marked the first time a voluntary organisation tackled a global health issue of such magnitude, setting the foundation for what would become an important partnership with organisations like the World Health Organisation, UNICEF, and the U.S. Centres for Disease Control and Prevention.

Rotary's commitment played a crucial role in decreasing polio cases worldwide, and it continues to work towards eradicating the disease completely. The efforts of individuals like Dr. Canseco and the collective efforts of Rotarians worldwide have been vital in the massive successes achieved by the global polio eradication initiative.

Dr. Carlos Canseco of Mexico (1921-2009) was an allergy specialist who practiced medicine in Monterrey, Nuevo Leon. During his long and active career, Dr. Canseco collaborated for many years with the Rotary International Association, including as the organisation's president in 1984. During his work with Rotary, he was particularly active in a plan to immunise all the world's children against polio. In 1982, he worked with Dr. Albert Sabin, the inventor of the oral polio vaccine, in developing an aerosol vaccine to prevent measles. Dr. Canseco was appointed as a state health secretary in Nuevo Leon and served as chairman of the PolioPlus Speakers Bureau. To date, PolioPlus has helped vaccinate 2 billion children worldwide and has contributed to the certification of the Americas as polio-free. Dr. Canseco's dedication and hard work helped to eradicate polio in the Region of the Americas.
